

1450-1500 A.D.

A great age or a terrible age... depends on how you look back on those times. The geopolitical scene back then was too complex to cover it in a short letter... I decided to mention only three important aspects/ things in short that have impacted our history/ existence on a spiritual, ideological plan (from the invisible plan) to the physical/ material/ action plan of our existence... Cause and effect...

1) Europe was ruled by the Christian Church and Kings, and we all know that being formal institutions with a dogma and a very rigid bureaucracy it was tyrannical and full of corruption (sex in secret, money and power at the top, etc.). But this situation brought to the European people, to normal working/family people also a few positives...What values? You may ask...

A) A common humanitarian and spiritual set of common values and ethics based on the life and sacrifice of Joshua of Nazareth (Jesus Christ) as a direct exception to all the wars for domination and human perversion, greed, lust, animalism, described in the "Old Testament".

B) An armor, a shield and a sword... and the spiritual will to fight off the invading forces/armies from outside of Europe that have always tried to conquer the productive people of Europe, the normal working, familist people. It also motivated people to fight off/diminish the enemy with in our own population, with in our own communities and the ideological infiltrators. For example, many times the population struggled and fought against corruption, perversions, tyranny of the kings, tyranny of the popes/ cardinals/ priests, parasitic/ predatory Nobles/ Aristocracy and against predatory, parasitical lower-class thief's, grifters, con-man's/ con-woman, rapists, robbers/ thugs, killers, etc. Lower class criminals, type of people. Basically, an armor, a sword and a shield. Basically, the will to fight for human universal rights. To struggle and fight in order to survive, be free and happy for one self, one's family, one's own community, and so on.

C) It give to people hope and the desire to build a better world. To advance the world...to try to explore, discover and master the world. To try to evolve. To try to find their roots and the classical foundation of European Civilization (also pre-Christian European cultures and values). All this trough struggle/fight and work/sacrifice (altruism, martyrs, volunteers, heroes, etc.). Those positive aspects united people in their own communities and made them strong...

2) The Big Ships (technology) and the era of exploration, discovery and yes, the greed of conquest. But by far and large, there were benefits and negatives for all the people of the world. The advance of knowledge/technology advanced many peoples interests on the whole world. The modern world was built in the last 500 years.90% benefits, 10% tragedy... The major problem is mostly what is happening to our minds and bodies in the last 77 years (last 100s some years things got out of control for sure). I know that the roots of the problem are much, much older... But up to about 40-30 years ago the benefits in balance with the negatives were much better than now, for most people... Now the situation is terrible...

3) The printing press was the beginning of the end (from 1436-1450). Knowledge was developed and printed in large numbers...under the direct control of only few individuals until the technology got to mass printing and newspapers (Mass-Media) which unleashed the monstrous power of propaganda from big to bigger. Based on this big propaganda power (a minority of individuals have been able to influence and even control) most or even all the events from about 1700's up to radio, television and now computers, internet and A.I. (the power of the algorithms). Based on those technologies and their monopole of information (through manipulation, conditioning and education/Social science) have reached a stage where men have forgotten how to be men, and women have forgotten how to be women...

Understand???

Conclusion? Most people have already lost most of their believes, religious ideas, morals, ethics, original culture, etc. In a way, they are empty on the inside... When they look in the inner mirror, many of them (not all) say and deny that they have an inner self/life energy (spirit, soul). Because modern science (partial truth, propaganda conditioning) has become their new God and the money interests reigns supreme... Mammon and Materialism has told them that if they don't see it, it means it does not exist. For me this is "funny science"... I don't see electromagnetism, but it exists, gravity the same... I don't even see the "Corona Virus" but they tell me that it exists and I must inject myself with "their" MRNA vaccine... So, if I cannot see my life energy, I cannot see my mind... I should believe that I don't exist???That I don't have a mind??? If I cannot see the power of Nature/Universe/God...then by the modern science reasoning it means that they don't exist??? Yet everything works perfectly without their science... and long after we will no longer be here, Nature/God will still exist forever. Modern science is controlled by a small group of people and is politically correct lies that most definitely has an agenda of its own...Sad, but trough fact...most science/ journalist/ political people today sell themselves to the highest bidder just like prostitutes...mostly male prostitutes...they represent a false duality...

I believe in one true life...based on truth...not on lies and deceit.

What do you believe??? Tell me...

Until next time, with respect Robert Freemann.
