

Views on cultures

I want to explain in simple words my position on different cultures, religions, races, nationalities and traditions, because being born European, male, in a Christian country with traditions that are the direct result of more than 100.000 years of existence, culture and civilization. I can state that my mission is mainly two-fold. One is to promote what I perceive to be the good part of my/our European cultural existence, from traditional to modern. I am not talking only about the Christian religion and values. I am talking about the whole culture with all the working traditions of all the diversity (of many distinct tribal/ethnic groups in Europe) that contain a richness... a profound foundation, that is pre-Christian in nature by many thousands of years. For example, the idea of democracy and community, of taking care of the dead, respect for our ancestors, etc. Predates and probably has stimulated all of humanity. Let's not forget that actual science (not politically correct lies) has discovered evidence that the ancient people that we refer to as "Homo sapiens Neanderthals" were the first to bury their dead, to decorate themselves and it seems too many honest scientists that there are some other "firsts" done by them...first.

I will leave it at that for now. So, I have to be true to myself and family (living and my ancestors). On the other hand, I believe Nature/God has created a huge diversity of people (and other species of fauna/animals) that must somehow be all protected... I believe that all ethnic groups must be protected with their own culture (if they are not parasitic or predatory) and their own biological diversity... I believe that part of the so-called Modern Man is doing a very simple-minded thinking that all individuality and differences between people/nations must disappear... I believe this is a crime against humanity. Just like it is a crime to bring the extermination and mindless abuse of exploitation/killing/extinction of entire species (animals and flora). So, because I can explain things one word at the time, it is possible that out of context in a fragmentary way things can be interpreted in many ways. So, for that to not happen, I will tell you what will be the best outcome. Italy to be for Italians first, and second, for those that are not from there... with respect for everybody and the local culture. China proper to be for proper Chinese and their culture and so on. Germany for Germans, Ukraine for Ukrainians, Basque for Basque and so on. You do get the idea??? Yes? No?

I know that this is a simple and true view of the world. I also know that in some countries exists more complex situations (war, disputes, conflicts) very complex and painful situations... the first step is for everybody to try to clean their own group/camp of corruption, greed and study, even question, their own religion and cultural values. Eliminate the commands/orders/influences that promote human corruption (parasitism and predation), greed, cowardness, laziness, vengeance, intolerance, exploitation, pro-slavery ideas (I believe in a NO SLAVES philosophy/religion), dogma, decadence, animalism (we are human beings after all !?!?!? Or we are not?) exaggerated materialism, nihilism, satanism, etc. We must all try to eliminate all those ideas that are against the stream of life. We must promote the stream of life and evolution from the individual, family, community, etc. on up to the Planetary level... But we must not forget that among many things, life is a competition and an obstacle course... like a training ground of sorts... I must not forget that even if I want for everybody to be doing good on the planet (have a good life), I must represent my European self first and my family, my community, and so on. But just like the sun's ray's lights all the good and the bad on its path, so my own words and ideas bless all those that read, study, analyze, differentiate, deduct, accept and learn from them...

I hope I was able to share with you some of my ideas and how I plan to go from here to there, and what I want to represent from the local priorities, towards the Universal priorities. Sometimes it's better to just make abstraction of who or what I am and just consider the words and ideas. Just see if they work for you... if they help. I am nobody... yet I am everybody...Just some ideas for you to consider, in order that you may find some answers.

So, in a way it is not about me. It is about you and your own mind...Don't worry be happy...The perfection perfects itself...in perfection. What do you think???

Until next time with respect Robert Freemann
