

The big beautiful bull

Modern Education = Chained Knowledge

Imagine this, you have a very powerful, beautiful bull... you are a farmer, and you want to keep this powerful, free, beautiful bull captive in order to make money on his sperm (on his race, on his strength, on his health and beauty, on his qualities).

What do you think that you must do first in order to control and exploit him?

Do you know?

If you don't know, let me share some of the answers with you.

First you must feed him, good food and give him good, clean water, by the old (traditional) system and give him plenty natural space and bring him (in his space) the females/cows in order for him to do his job... in a natural way... This is the old, nice way. With respect for Nature/God. You will also treat the bull very nice generally speaking... and have some positive emotions like respect/ admiration/ pride/ love for him. If you are a good farmer/ man you will also have a deep understanding of his life, of his existence and for life in general.

By the new system, they will put chemicals, hormones, medication, vitamins, growth stimulants, sperm stimulants, in his food, water and in his body by injections, etc., in order to exploit the bull for maximal profit (lots of sperm) by a false/ synthetic cow or by a machine. No real cow for him. They will do all of this in a very complicated and unpleasant way that requires the loss of much independence, of both the farmer and of the bull... Even if those chemicals shorten his life, his relative freedom and health... With no second thoughts or remorse... Only the bottom line counts today. Because after only a few short years he will be killed anyway (for meat is normal, but for maximal inhuman profit/ [greed] in this highly artificial way is not necessarily normal/humane, without any feelings, he is just a number, no love for him)... At the same time, you must build for him an artificial environment (prison) for his shorter but maximal productive life. Maximal profits is the new world order success formula (maximal profits without human feelings... Humanity much?)... More money at any cost/price with lots of bureaucracy and a huge overhead. At the same time you must control his freedom, health and power by investing in the best engineered iron bars, dividers/ partitions and stainless steel chains, etc. By doing all of those things and by investing in the prison of the very powerful, beautiful bull in order to control and exploit the bull. You have to offer to him what seems to be (but it is not)... maximal, even if only temporary, life standards... For your maximal profits and for the maximal profits of Big Pharma (and the Banks?)... your new partner and associate... If you like it or not it is irrelevant, because your new partner (Big Pharma) likes you (the modern farmer)... and “insists” to help you... anyway.

If that bull was able to think like an educated modern man, it will probably say this: If it gets used to his good/ artificial conditions/ restrictions (prison) in his new artificial environment... Look how good my friend, “the man”, treats me... Look how he keeps me clean and beautiful... Look what very nice standards of living and life I do have (with no real cows in his life) and how much better I am than those “dirty bulls” (with real cows in their life's) that roam in freedom and nature on those big, green wide plains (big farm)... I am the king of bulls... Look how dirty and bad mannered are those other (free) bulls on this big, green, wide plains (big farm) compared to me... Don't you see that I am big, powerful and beautiful? Don't you see that no other sorry ass (normal) bull compares to me? Don't you see how shiny my big iron bars are? Don't you see my beautiful, shining stainless steel chains on me? Look at me? Don't you see the beautiful ring in my nose and the beautiful earrings that I do have in my ears? I am the best bull ever... “of all of them”... Don't you see? Look it me.

What do you think about this short story?

Listen my friend. In order to control people, you must select/ take some of the youngest, strongest and most intelligent young people and put the bars and chains on them (rings and earrings too) from a young age first. Then if they are submissive enough when they reach college/ university age/ level, you must offer them (buy them, chain them) trough free grants, “free tuition”/not so free (sponsored by Gates, Soros, Schwab, etc., and from other foundations/ corporations just like them, with similar political agendas). Or by receiving your tuition fees by borrowing/ indebting yourself to the banks, the state, (total submission?), etc. Like an indenture servant/ slave to the system... For this education you must be grateful to them of course. Because without their approval/ diploma (their stamp = the mark) you will not be accepted generally speaking in “their system”...in “their world (?)”. It is their world or is our world? Think about that.

If you do get the idea behind what I am trying to tell you, you will understand the truth...or maybe not...Of what is happening around us, in the world today...in politics, etc. But it is possible for some of you/ or for many of you, to have your natural reaction in this way, or something like this... It will be most likely (if you are strongly conditioned) to say something like this: I am young, big, powerful, intelligent and you sorry little people, that have tried to stay free, honest and not submit to the system can not compare with my glory, beauty... with my achievements... and my money, etc. Or simply stated, I am better then you (normal people) because I am with the system and you are not. Think about that.

Of course that for everyone (1) of those that has been formed by different humanitarian(?), free grants, programs, specials/ tuition's fees, etc., there are ninety nine (99%) other normal hard working university students, etc. But in this, not so normal world, those university students that work and study hard by merit don't become presidents, prime ministers, big political bosses, etc. No, the real truth, is that the “biggest political shots” have been groomed/ selected or bought by people and special institutions/ organizations with a “politically correct agenda” from a very young age or they belong (to the)/in their own families of those people. The criteria has been decided by others a long time ago... in a fixed, rigged game... that have selected and sponsored them, with a specific reason/ scope, in their own minds... Understand?

Of course, it is debatable which bulls are more bulls, in power, health, beauty, and intelligence, etc. For some people?... By comparing the ones that grow on the free wide plain in nature (strong, natural and with natural cows, not synthetic cows)... or from the ones that grow in the modern barn/ corporations (with synthetic vagina/ virtual cows/ machines, etc.)... It all depends on your point of view... and your point of view depends on many other things and values... But mostly it depends 90% of the time on a very few simple variants/ questions, and those are: Where did you grow up? In freedom/nature or in prison/slavery? How much schooling do you have? And by who? How about your parents? How about your religion? Are you a free, independent, critical thinker or a highly conditioned person?... Are you a yes man/woman to the modern system? Have you trained/ strengthened your body and mind? Do you take risks? Life is a risk after all... Basically how much of the 15+1 Guide Lines of Man, knowingly or unknowingly have you done/ practiced in your life? Did you have any independent free thinking person(s) around you to show you the reality of life? Or did you most of your life have been living in lies and illusions/ mirage/ fantasies/ virtual reality and/or sold out?

Only you know or are able to find for your self the answers to those questions...and only if you are brave, honest and truly desire to do so. Trough thinking, perseverance and effort mostly. But you also need courage to see and accept the truth, reality in order to adapt your self to it by becoming strong and full of life... Otherwise it is easier to remain and live your life in the lies/ illusions, in your own bubble/ prison. They say that, ignorance is bliss... for some/or most people (?). You tell me.

What do you think about this?

Do you want to live?... To be or not to be? Think about that.

Did you like this short story?

And by the way; What kind of bull (or cow?) do you want to be?
You tell me.

Until next time good luck to you, with respect Robert Freemann.
